In one of the earlier fights an- her German fighter plane was en falling from the sky, and its rachuting pilot was captured. Twenty planes, flying in for- ation at 20,000 feet, ran into a rrage of anti-aircraft guns and en into the machine-gun fire of ghter planes, British sources id.

Thirteen of the group appeared court yesterday afternoon in swer of the summons while the her two took advantage of a w plan whereby violators may t the amount of the fine at police station and sign a iver instructing court officials enter a plea of guilty on the ffic court docket. This latter n removes the necessity of a olator appearing in court in per- n and makes it possible for him pay the fine at the police sta- n during hours when the mu- pal court offices are not open. Altogether, police issued 25 of new citations yesterday, Chief rks reported, a large majority them for improper parking, over- e parking or non-payment for rking in the meter zone.

Repeating a warning made sev- al times during the last few ys, officials today urged re- ients of new citations answer e citations promptly. Duplicate copies of citations issued are turned in the police each day and these plicates when signed by an of- er constitute warrants for the rorists' arrest if they fail to ort voluntarily within the 24- ur period.

British Bombers Meet Nazis in Berlin Area.

By The Associated Press

BERLIN, Sept. 4 — Crossing paths with Nazi planes headed for raids on England, squadrons of British bombers clashed with German fighters west of Berlin last night in an action which informed sources described as central Germany's first big engagement of the war.

Only a "few" of the British planes succeeded in reaching Berlin, the high command said, but they were seen crossing and recrossing the city. No bombs were reported dropped in the capital. Residents, however, were kept in their cellars during a two and a half hour alarm.

Four or five of the British bombers were reported shot down by heavy antiaircraft fire and German fighters. Another of the raiders was reported brought down by the cable of a barrage balloon.

Some Bombs Dropped

Authorized sources said "lively activity of German and English planes was observable in the Magdeburg region," about 70 miles west of Berlin, apparently the site of the main battle.

The high command said "scattered bombs" were dropped in the province of Brandenburg, in the region of Braunschweig, 110 miles west of Berlin, and Halberstadt, about 200 miles west.

Two squadrons of British bombers, avoiding the Ruhr defense zone, were broken up and turned back at the Elbe, this source said.

New Nazi Tactics

The use of German fighting planes in air defense was a departure in German tactics. Germans rarely have mentioned any other weapon but antiaircraft guns in repelling British raids.

The unverified report of the use of barrage balloons, similar to Britain's, also was something new in German air defense, although the German high command was known to have experimented in their use.

Sinking of six armed British merchantmen totaling 51,507 tons was credited to a single German submarine by the high command. Included in the total was the 15,007-ton Dunvegan Castle, previously reported torpedoed.

HITLER IRKED BY RAIDS ON BERLIN

By The Associated Press

BERLIN, Sept. 4—Adolf Hitler broke weeks of silence today to threaten that his air force would "erase" Britain's cities if the royal air force persists in its night raids on Germany and to predict—again—that England will crack up.

It was his first speech since July 19, when he addressed what he called "one more appeal to reason" to the British and warned them that their empire would be destroyed if they kept on fighting.

Hitler, in high humor, jeeringly declared England was asking why Hitler didn't come. "My reply is," he said, "just be quiet, he's coming all right."

Then he said that he alone would set the hour for the war to end.

THREE BOUND OVER FOR BURGLARY AT THEATER

Three Lima Negroes were bound over to the county grand jury under $2,500 bond each this morning when arraigned before Municipal Judge Hazen on charges of breaking into the Palace theater early Monday.

Melvin Haicock, 23, and Wister Morning, 27, entered pleas of guilty and Calvin Burgen, 20, pleaded not guilty and waived preliminary hearing in the lower court.

Before being arraigned this morning the youths gave written statements during questioning by Police Chief Marks, who filed the charges, and by Capt. E. C. Mackan and Patrolman Fred Norton who conducted an investigation Monday resulting in confessions by Haicock and Morning and the recovery of $28, two guns and other property allegedly taken from the theater. Chief Marks said Morning and Haicock admitted taking part in the burglary but that Burgen denied going to the theater with the others.

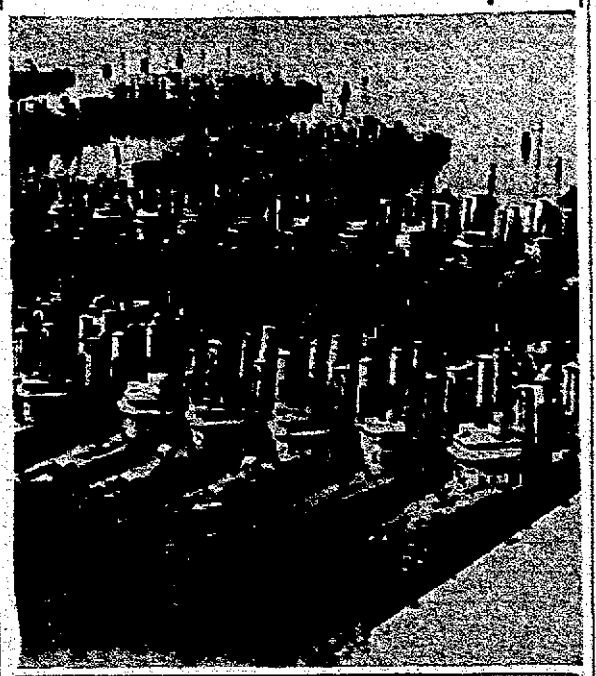
WASHINGTON, Sept. 4—Ohio's congressional circles have learned informally that the state's 10,000 national guardsmen are tentatively scheduled to be called out Oct. 16 for a year's training. Sixty thousand guardsmen from other states start training Sept. 16.

In Columbus, Ohio national guard officials said they had received no word when mobilization would be ordered.

In British-U. S. Swap



British western hemisphere possessions in which the United States has been given the right to establish air and naval bases are shown in the map above. The possessions involved in the transaction are Newfoundland, Bermuda, the Bahamas, Trinidad, Antigua, St. Lucia, Jamaica and British Guiana. The section of each possession in which a base will be established is indicated on the map. Among the 50 over-age destroyers which Great Britain will get from the United States are those shown in the International News photo above as they lay at the San Diego navy yard where they were stored after being decommissioned during the 20's. Recently they were reconditioned and recommissioned and now they will go to Britain to be used against Germany.

CAROL ACTS TO SAVE NATION FROM ANARCHY

U.S. Acts To Speed Swap of Destroyers for Bases

Men at Work in Boston To Prepare Ships for British Crews in Canada Friday.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4—The United States acted with great dispatch today to complete its historic swap of 50 average destroyers for important defence base sites in six British possession on this side of the Atlantic.

At Boston, American crews were at work on the first group of eight ships, getting them in shape for transfer to the royal navy at a Canadian port on Friday, or immediately thereafter.

Another flotilla of 6 of the 1,200-ton class destroyers was reported to have left Hampton Roads, Va., headed north for Boston.

Meanwhile, a 10-man commission of army and navy officers were already bound for Bermuda and a series of conferences with British officials there on the base site this country will acquire in the great sound of the resort islands.

The Bermuda base and another base in Newfoundland would be in addition to the six acquired in the destroyer swap. The right to bases in those two possessions was granted by the British as an outright gift, but their acquisition was naturally linked with the broader program.

Other Sites

The other base sites are in the Bahamas, Jamaica, St. Lucia, Trinidad, Antigua, and British Guiana.

Congress reacted with both applause and dismay to the base deal but the expression disregarded party lines. Discussion quickly centered on whether the deal presaged another request for appropriation to augment the already swollen defense budget. Equipment will have to be supplied for the bases.

No cash consideration was involved in obtaining the bases. Great Britain agreeing to lease the sites to the United States for 99 years in return for the destroyers.

The historic bargain—hailed by President Roosevelt as the most important event for American defense since the Louisiana purchase of 1803—got a welcome reception in Britain.

The announcement was made more momentous by the simultaneous British pledge that her fleet would "in no event be surrendered or sunk" if British waters became untenable "but would be sent overseas for the defense of other parts of the empire."

Berlin's Attitude

In Berlin, a foreign office spokesman said today Germany regards the sale of 50 United States destroyers to Britain in exchange for military bases in the western hemisphere a definite indication that the British empire is breaking up.

"Germany notes with interest," the spokesman said, "that Britain is virtually throwing away (verschleudern) the most valuable arens. The evaluation of 50 old destroyers for eight military bases makes possible certain deductions.

"This action is the beginning of liquidation of the British empire."

The spokesman added ironically:

"That United States secretary of state announced he, Hull, accepted the British proposal 'with pleasure' is regarded here as self-evident, in view of the unselfish solidarity existing between both democracies."

Italian Fascism's foremost editorial spokesman, Virginio Gayda, declared today that the exchange of American destroyers for British naval bases in the western hemisphere "puts the United States still more dangerously into the European war."

The editor, often the mouthpiece of the government, described the agreement as a "singular bargain" which "confirms the mercantile abdications of asserted solidarity between the Anglo-Saxon peoples and governments."

Not Yet at Peak

At the same time Gayda said that the German aerial offensive on Britain had not yet reached its peak and "has not exhausted all means of attack which the axis powers can concentrate against the island and its vital imperial dependents."

Notifying congress of the agreement which was reached by an exchange of notes with Britain, President Roosevelt transmitted

SMITH STARTS 'SWAP' DEBATE

Marion Congressman First in House To Speak on Trade with Britain.

Eighth District Congressman Frederick C. Smith of Marion led off a series of one-minute speeches on President Roosevelt's Destroyer-naval base trade with Great Britain today in the house, The Associated Press reported from Washington.

Dr. Smith asserted the transfer of 50 destroyers to Britain was "clearly an act of war."

The speeches in the house were short but sometimes wrathful.

Rep. Sweeney (D-Ohio) declared that if the people "knew what was going on behind the scenes in Washington they would start a revolution, not to overthrow but to preserve democracy."

On the other side, Rep. Luther A. Johnson (D-Tex) said that Mr. Roosevelt did the same thing President Jefferson did in purchasing Louisiana in 1803 and "you cannot take the people into your confidence when you are making a trade." To this Rep. Creel (D-Ky) added that "whoever did it, did a blamed good job."

At the White House President Roosevelt went over the entire trade with his congressional leaders and reporters sought further

THREE HURT AS CAR UPSETS NEAR MARION

Mrs. A. J. Berry, Daughter and Companion Injured.

Mrs. A. J. Berry of 355 Cherry street, her daughter, Joan, 19, and Miss Marjorie Pocock, 20, of 514 Vernon Heights boulevard, were injured when the Berry car overturned and went into the ditch on the west side of State Route 23, three-quarters of a mile south of Marion, at 11:55 a. m. today.

All three were taken to City hospital.

Miss Berry, driver of the car, suffered a lacerated left shoulder and a possible neck injury and her mother suffered severe shock and scalp lacerations. Neither was believed to be in serious condition, the hospital reported this afternoon.

Miss Pocock, whose right wrist was fractured, was released from the hospital early this afternoon.

Apparently Miss Berry lost control of the car when the right wheels went off the highway and into loose gravel, according to State Patrolman W. C. Carder, who investigated the accident. In the excitement Miss Berry is believed to have pulled the car back onto the highway in such a way that it skidded and went broadside into the ditch, overturning three times before it came to a stop.

Route of the runaway was across from the car. It is believed [illegible] a deer [illegible] and [illegible]

Pro-Nazi Premier Replaced by Army General After Attack on Life of King.

By The Associated Press

BUCHAREST, Sept. 4—The Rumanian cabinet, headed by the strongly pro-Nazi Ion Gigurtu, fell today as King Carol sought to save his nation from anarchy and the possible loss of more territory to his neighbors.

Gigurtu, in office since June 1, was replaced as premier by General Ion Antonescu, who was expected to pick a military cabinet. Gigurtu resigned within a few hours after the government, with King Carol's own safety menaced by an alleged Iron Guard plot to place Crown Prince on the throne, began rounding up Iron Guardists.

In Bucharest and Constanta, where demonstrators last night made attempts to seize power, the situation, according to a government spokesman, was "under control."

However, at Brasov, heavily armed Iron Guardists who captured the telephone offices were still in possession of the switchboards.

Residents of the capital were awakened today by explosions on the outskirts. Unconfirmed reports spread that an attempt had been made to blow up some petroleum storage depots. Large reinforcements of troops had been sent to the oil fields.

Famous General

The new premier is one of Rumania's most famous generals, known for his strategy in the World war. At that time he took charge of disarming the disorganized Russian army when it collapsed.

General Antonescu, held for several weeks in a monastery with others on charges of organizing opposition to the government after the Soviet occupation of Bessarabia in July, was released yesterday to become commander-chief of the Rumanian-Transylvanian forces.

Gigurtu had been premier since June 1. He was temporarily in disfavor last September when the Iron Guard was purged after the assassination of Premier Armand Calinescu, but regained Carol's favor when Russia, Hungary and Bulgaria began their territorial demands on Rumania, and sought German aid.

Today with Carol's own safety menaced by an alleged Iron Guard plot to seize power and place Crown Prince Mihai on the throne the king was striving through martial law to stamp out spreading anarchy.

Strikes Paralyze Police

The long-arm of the monarch's once all-powerful police was partially paralyzed, however, by nationwide railway strikes and communication breakdowns as his embittered subjects continued to demonstrate against the axis-dictated cession of northern Transylvania to Hungary.

A great question appeared to be whether the army would remain faithful to him in the face of growing public opposition to the Transylvania partition.

Behind the situation was the ever-present fear that should the king fail to reestablish order, Hungary might take the opportunity to seize all of Transylvania. Hundreds of thousands of Hungarian troops already are massed along the frontier ready to march into the ceded northern portion tomorrow.

Anxious eyes also were cast toward the new northern frontier facing Soviet Russia, where a border clash ten days ago was reported to have brought Red army forces onto Rumanian soil.

Bucharest seethed with excitement over the alleged Iron Guard coup last night, in which shots were fired at windows of the palace in an unsuccessful attempt on Carol's life. Hundreds of members of the extremist organization were officially retorted "under arrest."

Four top-ranking Rumanian generals were among those reported arrested and charged with plotting the abortive coup. Besides shots being fired at Palace windows, attempts were made to seize the Bucharest radio station and the American-owned telephone company's central office.

Three men who broke through a guard of soldiers participated in the shooting at the palace. Many shots were fired in the grounds before soldiers overpowered the three and hustled them away in a car. One Iron Guardist and one palace guard were reported wounded in the fray.

Supt. Holt Lists Books, Supplies for School Year

The workbooks and supplies Marion city school pupils will need when they start to school next Monday were listed today by Supt. E. E. Holt.

By action of the board of education this week, no workbooks or supplies will be sold at the administration building. As an experiment, the board has designated three uptown concerns to handle the sale of books, the School Supply store in the former bus depot room on East Center street, east of the courthouse, the Langley Service on Holmes place, at the rear of Harding High school, and the Want's Book store at 120 South Main street.

The three distributors will buy the books and supplies at the superintendent's office. All retail prices have been set by the administration.

The change in handling the sale was made primarily for the convenience of parents, since the administration building is outside the uptown area, and also to avoid the jam which heretofore has slowed up sales at the administration building which is not equipped to handle the rush of patrons.

All text books will be furnished

CONTRACTS LET FOR FIRE HOSE

New Department Equipment Bought from Chicago and New York Firms.

Contracts for purchase of hose for the Marion fire department were awarded yesterday by the board of control. Awards were made last night at the close of a seven-hour conference which began with the opening of bids at noon.

The Bi-Lateral Hose Co. of Chicago, Ill., was given a contract to furnish 1,500 feet of two and one-half inch hose at 98.8 cents per foot, or $1,482. A. L. Birch of Columbus, company representative, in addition agreed to furnish without charge several pieces of equipment including four complete fog nozzles and a "Siamese" coupling.

The Eureka Fire Hose Co. of New York City, represented by Harry E. Thomas of Marion, was awarded a contract to supply 1,000 feet of two and one-half inch hose at $1.20 per foot, or $1,200. Mr. Thomas' agreement calls for furnishing free 200 feet of one and one-half inch hose, in addition to the quantity purchased.

All the material is to be delivered within 30 days.

Bids were submitted by eight companies on hose and fog nozzles in both two and one-half and one and one-half inch sizes. Figures quoted covered a wide range and the board of control, composed of Mayor Russell C. Snare and Safety-Service Director Clyde C. Caldwell, together with Clerk Walter Guthrie, made a diligent study of the specifications and figures.

Fire Chief T. J. McFarland, who was present for the entire conference, informed officials of the relative merits of various types of hose which have been used by the department. Most of the hose purchased have been used hose, some having been in service as long as 20 years.

Willkie Declares Trade Needed Public Approval

By The Associated Press

RUSHVILLE, Ind., Sept. 4 — Wendell L. Willkie has expressed the opinion that President Roosevelt should have obtained congressional approval or permitted public discussion before completing the Anglo-American agreement to trade air and naval bases for 50 over-age United States destroyers.

The Republican presidential nominee said in a statement late yesterday that the country undoubtedly would approve of the program, but he added:

"The people have a right to know of such important commitments prior to, and not after made."

Meters Yield $906 in August

First Month's Revenue Nearly $200 Ahead of Forecast; Average $8.80 Each.

Parking meter receipts for August, the first month the devices have been in operation, amounted to $906.90, City Auditor Elmer Shaw reported late yesterday. This was nearly $200 more than officials had anticipated.

Included in the months' receipts is $104.20 which was taken from the meters early yesterday and which represents amounts placed in the meters since last Friday morning. The entire amount is included in the August rather than the September figure since the meters were not in operation Sunday or Monday, Monday being a holiday.

Average $8.80 Each

The average monthly revenue from each of the 103 meters was $8.80, the figure reported above, [illegible] was $1.20 [illegible] meter salesmen estimated several weeks ago, their figures being based on the average yield in other cities operating meters.

The average yield per meter was 34 cents a day for each of the 26 days the meters actually were in operation during August. On the basis of the month's receipts, city officials estimate the city will receive approximately $11,000 revenue from the meters during the first year—provided, of course, the meter zones are used as much during the other 11 months of the year as they did the first month. In comparison to this estimated $11,000 revenue the city has contracted to pay rental fee of $4,326 on the meters the first year, or if the city decides to purchase them at the end of the one-year trial period,

YOUR HEALTH

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Health Every Child's Right.

I am sometimes chided for writing every year about this time in favor of diphtheria immunization for the child who is entering school for the first time. It is argued that in many cities such immunization is practically compulsory and that my arguments are pointless and unnecessary. But I do not desist because I think it is the highest duty that a column like this can obey to attempt to spread the gospel of immunization.

If I no longer have to try to persuade parents to undertake voluntarily the immunization of their children, as I had to fifteen years ago, at least I can advance the arguments which seem to me to make compulsory diphtheria vaccination necessary.

There is probably no single health conquest in the history of mankind that ranks with the elimination of diphtheria. Once among the deadliest and most contagious of diseases, it ravaged young people at the most promising period of their youth.

Now barely twenty years after diphtheria immunization was made possible, it is a rare disease. In cities in the United States, whose combined population is over 38,000,000 people, barely one death per 100,000 population occurred in 1939. In thirty-two cities there were no deaths from diphtheria in 1939. In twenty cities in the United States there have been no diphtheria deaths in 1938 and '39.

This result is all the more remarkable because every person who becomes immune to diphtheria does so by making a voluntary individual effort. Diphtheria cannot be eliminated by broad hygienic methods such as are applicable to typhoid fever by purifying the water supply. The person who is rendered immune to diphtheria must be persuaded by the logic of the evidence—this is often the hardest part of the battle—and they must allow themselves to be examined and undergo a hypodermic injection.

Selection of proper cases is accomplished by applying what is known as the Schick skin test.

CONVICTS FREE ALL HOSTAGES

Young People Freed After Girl Is Sent To Make Deal for Freedom.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBIA, Miss, Sept. 4— Three of four desperate Arkansas convicts surrounded by 1,000 possemen surrendered today, releasing unharmed two high school students held as hostages since Monday night

Their surrender came a few hours after they had freed a third captive girl and sent her to police with a "truce" demand

Caught between a closing line of state police troops and trusty convicts in civilian clothes from the Louisiana Angola penitentiary, the convicts threw down their guns and gave up

The surrender took place in a corn field at the edge of a woods several miles from Columbia The names of the three were not immediately known One—or possibly two—of the convicts who escaped a prison farm on Labor day remained at large in this area

Sent with Truce

After nearly two full days of captivity, 16-year-old Voncelle Williams walked from thick swamplands near here and told police the fugitives demanded free passage through posse lines Denied this she said, they threatened to kill Gladys Diamond, 15, and Jerry Hartigill 17, whom they still held All three live in Rayville La, and were kidnaped when the criminals commandeered their car late Monday

After the posse refused to deal with the convicts, Miss Williams joined the search, aiding with directions as to the fugitives' probable whereabouts She told officers that the original group numbered five instead of six as police believed, and was reduced to four when gunfire killed one of their number yesterday

They were part of a group of 16 that shot its way out of the Arkansas prison farm at Cummins Monday killing a guard With one dead and 10 recaptured in Arkansas, there remained 25 unaccounted for

A convict found drowned near the prison yesterday at first was believed to have been one of the 16 but prison officials later said his was an independent escape

The convicts shot and killed Frank Gartman a posseman, early yesterday, and fled with their hostages into a dense swamp

Possemen, aided by 100 state policemen sent by Governor Sam Jones cornered the ringleader of the break, Frank Conley, 34, on the Ouachita river levee yesterday and shredded his body with bullets Conley died only 50 yards from where Gartman was killed

Two more convicts were recaptured last night Drig Harvey 29, who had been in one gun fight near Garland, Ark, since his escape, was found sleeping in the woods near Texarkana, Ark-Tex Kenneth Shipley, 16 was taken in custody near Linwood Ark

Meanwhile, three other convicts were reported to have, kidnaped W. V Hoover, Glendale, Ark, farmer commandeered his truck for a ride into Louisiana and to have left him chained to the truck near Bastrop, La, where they hitch-hiked a ride in the direction of Monroe La

BRITISH PLEDGE BOON TO U S

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON Sept 4—Britain's pledge never to surrender or scuttle its fleet reinforced today the United States government's intentions to keep its own fighting armada in the Pacific as a possible restraint on any Japanese expansionist tendencies

This was described reliably as one of the motivating factors in the exchange between Secretary Hull and Lord Lothian British ambassador on the possible fate of the British fleet if it were driven from home waters

Coupled with this was the government's desire for assurance that the 50 over-age destroyers traded to Great Britain for naval and air base sites in the Atlantic never would be used against this country

Most of the attacks during the night, the government said, were directed against towns in northwest England and in the Bristol channel area, although a few bombs were dropped in rural areas in the northeast and in Scotland total cost including the rental fee, will amount to $5,768 approximately half the estimated receipts

The first rental payment, amounting to $300 50, is due Sept 10 and will be paid from the parking meter fund, Mr Shaw reported

See No "Boycott'

While officials were reluctant to comment on the August receipts because it represents only a single month's collections, they pointed out that the meter zone obviously is not being 'boycotted' as opponents of the meters have declared since the month's receipts far exceeded the estimate based on revenue in other cities. They also pointed out that on the basis of the receipts, the average parking meter is "paid up' nearly 70 per cent of the time the meters are in operation

This greater-than-average popularity they believe, bears out the findings of William S Knight, expert traffic engineer who supervised a WPA traffic survey of the city last winter Mr Knight and his associates declared that a large number of shoppers were anxious to obtain parking spaces in the uptown district for short periods but were unable to do so because of the number of cars parked on the street for half-day and all-day periods by business and office workers

Destroyer Trade Strengthens U. S. Atlantic Position

By DEWITT MacKENZIE

The Anglo-American naval base and destroyer deal needs no flowery embellishment to introduce it as a momentous transaction—with the emphasis decidedly on the bases, although the warships are of great importance

The acquisition of these bases not only is an historic development in the relations between the United States and England, but it bids fair to introduce a wholly new element into the defense power of the two nations

It is not by any means a one-sided affair England will gain immeasurably through the increased American control of the North and South Atlantic

Benefits To U S

Once these eight bases are fully equipped and got into operation they will tend to give the United States domination of the eastern waters of North America and at least well down the coast of South America

The Caribbean will be our private fish-bowl, giving protection to the Panama Canal and the vast oil fields of Venezuela It will provide a center from which naval and air forces can be rushed north, south or straight across to the coast of Africa It will represent the strongest strategic position of its kind in the world

Because of this domination Britain likely will feel able to withdraw from this hemisphere important forces which she has had to maintain for the defense of her possessions Obviously this will add to her strength in Europe and the Far East Naval experts point out that this added naval power of Britain in European waters would provide a further protection against attack on the western hemisphere

Pledge Reassuring

In this connection word from Washington this morning is that Britain's pledge never to scuttle its fleet has reinforced the American government's intentions to keep its own fleet in the Pacific as a possible restraint on any Far Eastern developments

As regards the destroyers they will come at a time when England needs them badly These warships which are the handy men of any navy, can be used in all manner of emergencies. One needs only glance at the burden resting on the British navy to see the value of even a dozen fresh ships

CONFERENCE SPEAKER SEES HITLER FAILURE

Doctor Gives Three Reasons for His Forecast.

Three reasons for his belief that Germany is doomed to fail in Hitler's attempt to become a world ruler were given by Dr. Arthur I. Brown of Vancouver, B. C., Sunday night at the close of the opening day of a Bible conference sponsored at the Chautauqua pavilion by the Young People's Fellowship club.

Dr. Brown spoke as follows:

"In the first place the program of world empires is clearly pointed out in the Bible, especially in the Book of Daniel, and there is no place for a Germanic empire such as Hitler plans. Daniel visioned four great kingdoms, Babylon, Medo-Persia, Greece and Rome, the latter at first strong, then dividing into two parts, the eastern and western divisions, and then further breaking up into 10 kingdoms, deteriorating in power and influence but never disappearing. As the time of the end of the Gentile domination of the Jews draws near, the Roman Empire is to be revived and following this the universal Kingdom of Christ is predicted. If this is true, and Daniel has been right for 2,000 years, then Hitler is doomed to fail.

Next, his attitude toward the Jews spells his defeat according to numerous prophecies of God. Thirdly, in the thirty-eighth chapter of Ezekiel, Germany is seen as a second-rate power, taking orders from Russia, while Great Britain and the United States are protesting against the planned assault of Russia and her allies, including Germany, against Palestine. This shows us that Great Britain is not destroyed but existing as a real force in world affairs."

The Stars Say—

For Thursday, Sept. 5

WHILE things may be expected to hold their own on this day, judging by certain rather negative or adverse configurations, it will take some sagacity, discretion and good judgment. The especial menace seems to arise from some rather drastic action coming from a group source. This sinister force may operate with cunning, in deep-laid and obscure plots or schemes. It is possible that in a difficult and baffling situation the proverbial "woman's intuition" may be found illuminating, or an elder might assist.

Those whose birthday it is may enjoy a fairly successful and progressive year by the exercise of steadiness, application, sound acumen and good judgment, especially in difficult and threatening predicaments possibly traceable to deep-laid and sinister plots of certain combinations or group interests. Beware "rackets" and shun drastic measures for tact and finesse, compromise should wise counsel recommend.

A child born on this day may be moderately equipped for coping with negative conditions arising in its life, being tactful, courteous, steady, thoughtful and having keen insight.

Operated by compressed air from a service station's equipment, a vacuum cleaner for automobiles has been invented that develops a stronger suction than most electric motor operated cleaners.

MEMORY OF THE MOON

by Jeanne Bowman

YESTERDAY: John agrees to lend Constance $50,000 on condition that (1) if she fails to show a profit the ranch reverts to him for resale, and (2) she agrees to marry no one else until the loan is repaid with interest.

CHAPTER 17

Family Fury

MRS. CABRILLO'S eyes rested hopefully on John's. Then her eyes sought her daughter's and the hope fled. "I'm sorry you didn't let mother know you were at home last evening, Constanza," she murmured, stressing the Spanish of her name.

"I didn't want to intrude at the last moment," Constance explained.

"And this morning?"

"You were still asleep when I left the house."

"Catch her leaving word," grumbled Don, "she doesn't work in the open."

Constance looked at Don and wondered what had become of the little fat brother, who had once punched an older, larger boy for tormenting her. She wished she could find the little boy in this sleek young man-about-town.

"Your sister has been too busy looking after your good, to be thinking of messages," John told him. "She's been raising money to put new life into El Cabrillo Rancho."

A blank silence met this, then Don asked in a husky voice, "You mean..you mean she's not going to agree to sell.. after all this?"

"I never said I would agree," Constance reminded him.

"But Good Lord, Connie," he cried. "I...well, and mother and Donna, we counted on it. You have to go through with it now; you can't back out!"

"Why?"

The very simplicity of her question caught them up into a moment of silence, then Don spoke again. "The publicity. For Heaven's sake, Con, don't you know the newspapers have carried reams about the sale, and mother and ...well, we've—"

"Borrowed money on the lies you told the newspapers," stated Constance.

"Don't you say I lied." Don sprang at her as though he would strike her "I had reason to believe the deal had gone through."

Constance thought of the telegram he had sent to the Taylor. "Oh, Don," she cried brokenly. "Why don't you grow up Business men don't trust the senders of anonymous telegrams."

"Business men," scoffed Don. "Don't try to tell me those hicks out there are business men. Cow chaser's that's all they are."

Constance stared at him a moment. It was useless to try to explain conditions as she had found them on the ranch; to show them would have happened under any other management.

"It doesn't matter" she decided wearily. "John they'll listen to you Please tell them what we are going to try to do....for them"

Raskthorne tried. He explained the situation with such clarity that Constance marveled. Out of her scattered comments the previous night and their conference that day he had woven a convincing outline of her plan.

'A Little Extravagant'

When he concluded Don turned on her, "No one but a damn-fool woman would think of such a stunt...no I won't shut up," he snapped at his mother. "You're afraid of Constance, all of you; you, too, Raskthorne. Well, I'm not! I'm not going to stand by and let her ruin us. I'll take this to court and prove the rest of us have some rights—"

"I don't believe you will, Don," interposed Raskthorne, "My attorneys will represent Constance, and aside from the time limitation to contest the bill being up, they'd force you to show cause why an injunction keeping her from carrying out her plans should be granted. You've done nothing to qualify yourself as a business man. One look at the monthly bills I receive at my office, in your name, would stop the suit before it started."

Don evidently recognized the truth in this. "But I'll do something," he threatened.

"The only thing you can do," advised Raskthorne, "is to take your disappointment like a gentleman."

"A lot you know about gentlemen," flung Don, and strode from the room.

"And that goes for me," added Donna, and fled after him.

Nadine Cabrillo sat, cheeks pale under their delicate roughing. She held a slim hand out to Constance. "I'm sorry I can't be enthusiastic about your plan, dear," she murmured, "but I've never liked the ranch, and we were getting along so well. Besides," she sighed, "Don was so sure you'd agree to the sale that we.. well, we really went into debt rather deeply."

"Mother," Constance knelt before her. She wished she had been bitter as Don and Donna had It was easy to fight bitterness. It was difficult to be cruel to this beautiful little woman who seemed trying hard to see both sides.

"Mother, I'll take care of these bills, whatever you've spent counting on the sale. Only don't you see, this is what I feared, that you'd let the children talk you into spending everything at once, and with the ranch gone there'd be nothing more coming in."

Nadie brightened when Constance spoke of meeting the bills. She even smiled when she confessed, "We are a little extravagant, aren't we? Well, I'll try to talk to Don and Donna and make them see you are trying to help us, only...they're going to be so disappointed. We'd made the loveliest plans. Dickey Marable has a beautiful home at Palm Beach and we we going to take it for the season—

"John," she asked in sudden alarm, "you believe Constance is right in this? I mean she won't lose everything for us?"

"I'm backing her to win," he assured her, "and you are protected. I'll guarantee your share of the sale offer, if she fails"

"Then....then good luck, darling. And will you send Mineita in, I feel a headache coming on."

'Not A Cabrillo'

Constance and John left the room in silence. As they neared the library Constance tugged at his sleeve. "Come in a moment. John, I'm sorry Don spoke as he did."

John patted her hand. "He was striking at you through me I understood. He's probably in a corner, financially, and doesn't know how to get out."

Thinking of the car she had seen on the driveway the previous evening, Constance nodded. I'll buy that for him, she thought. I can do that much.

"You're going to have a busy month, Conchita," John offered, seming intent upon changing the trend of her thoughts. "I'm going to take you to some of the biggest up-state dairies, then we'll follow the milk down through the depots to the creameries. And then we'll make a trip to the livestock market, and perhaps we'll find some stock shows; this is the time of the year for them

"You know?" he smiled at her confidentially. "I'm getting interested in this myself."

"You're a darling," Constance pronounced soberly.

She held to that thought the entire four weeks that followed. Their long conferences before the hearth, or across some cafe table, were times of calm, a resuscitating rest from the emotional storm which swirled about her.

There was the week in which she sought to compile the family debts and to stand aghast at their total. Here the blood of Michael Mahoney came to her rescue.

With cash to her credit, she stormed the tradesmen and demanded a percentage for payment. They seemed eager to accept the terms of the determined young woman who said, "Take it and give me a receipt in full, or wait until Mrs. Cabrillo pays you."

Don accepted the car with complete lack of graciousness. "I had it coming," he said blandly. "Now try to squirm your way out of the publicity."

Constance had already found her way out of the phase in which she was most interested. An airmail letter had come in answer to the one she had sent Peter Taylor; a brif, cheering letter, written by Pedro.

Dear Michael—Dad asked me to answer your note. He says if he tries to thank you for your justice, he'll pound the paper into the desk and no Cabrillo is worth it. Remember that is what he says Meg insists you are not a Cabrillo.

If the clipping means you have decided to sell to us, I'd like you to know you are always welcome here and Pancho is yours. Meg says, and I think Meg is a very wise woman, that your room is to be kept for you and that you are to spend all of your vacations here. When is your next vacation?

However, as the news story was written while you were here at El Cabrillo, I doubt that you are going to agree to the sale.

May we know your decision at your earliest convenience?

PEDRO.

RAINS HELP CROPS STAGE COMEBACK

Corn and Soybeans Helped by Change In Weather.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 4—Nature has slapped Ohio farmers with two handicapping blows this year, but crops are now rallying and unless a third blow—an early killing frost—is struck, widespread and serious damage can be avoided, Ohio State university agriculture experts said today.

Corn and soybeans, two important Ohio crops to suffer from unfavorable weather conditions, are making a comeback. One farmer told university men this week: "each day like this is worth $50 to my corn acreage."

In southern Ohio, however, the hot dry weather of July and early August caught corn in a tender stage because of late planting occasioned by an extremely wet spring. Most of it had to be cut for fodder.

Both corn and soybeans, and potatoes, too, now have suitable weather for recuperating from the spring rains and summer drought. The normal date for the first killing frost is Oct. 8.

Planting of winter wheat ought not to be affected if weather follows the trend of the last two weeks, the experts said.

TICKETS GO ON SALE FOR RALLY OF V. F. W.

Bands from Nearby Invited To Compete in Contest.

Admission tickets for the "Wake Up America" rally a week from Friday night at the fairgrounds were placed on sale today by the sponsoring organization, Marion Post No. 3313, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

An attempt will be made, according to the sponsors, to have Marion's underprivileged and crippled children as guests at the rally.

Letters have gone out to directors of bands in surrounding territories, inviting them to compete for $100 in cash awards in a marching contest which will be one of the highlights of the rally.

The band contests will be staged on the racetrack in front of the grandstand. Each competing group will have 10 minutes' performance time. To be eligible for the contest bands must participate in the pre-rally parade which will form at Central Junior High school and march to the fairgrounds.

Details of the parade are in charge of George T. Geran, parade marshal.

In the band contest the first prize will be $50, second prize, $35 and third prize, $15. An effort is being made by the band committee to secure out-of-town judges for the event. Points to be judged will be playing, cadence, alignment, carriage, precision, discipline, special maneuvers, appearance and general effect.

AGED MAN FOUND DEAD ON WYANDOT CO. FARM

J. H. Terrell Drowns Self Near Sycamore.

Special to The Star

SYCAMORE, O., Sept. 4—Apparently despondent over ill health, John Henry Terrell, 89, drowned himself yesterday in an open ditch on the farm of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Adams of three and a half miles southeast of Sycamore, with whom he had made his home for the last four years.

Since the death of his wife, Mrs. Margaret Miller Terrell on May 16, 1936, Mr. Terrell had lived at the Adams farm. Yesterday morning he pulled weeds along the highway until about 11, then went into the house and shortly afterwards started towards the back of the farm where he was in the habit of gathering fall mushrooms. When he did not respond to a call to dinner about 1 p. m. Mrs. Adams began to search for him. In his favorite chair she found his purse, knife, watch and tobacco, carefully wrapped in his handkerchief. She immediately started down the lane to the open ditch, where she found him, face downward in the water. Coroner Propst of Wyandot county said the aged man had been dead about two hours.

Mr. Terrell, a native of Virginia had lived in Sycamore and vicinity most of his life. Two sons, one in Oklahoma and one whose address is unknown, survive.

The funeral will be conducted Thursday at 2 p. m. at the E. W. Moore funeral home in Sycamore. Burial will be made in Green Lawn cemetery at Tiffin.

PINEAPPLE ICEBOX CAKE

PINEAPPLE ICEBOX CAKE

One envelope unflavored gelatine; ¼ cup cold water; 3 eggs; ¼ cup pineapple juice; 1 tablespoon lemon juice; ½ cup sugar; ¼ teaspoon salt; 1 cup crushed pineapple, well drained; ½ cup whipping cream.

Beat egg yolks, add ¼ cup of sugar, pineapple juice and lemon juice. Cook in double boiler until custard consistency, stirring constantly. Soften gelatine in cold water and dissolve in hot custard. Add drained pineapple and cool. When mixture begins to thicken, fold in stiffly-beaten egg whites, to which remaining ¼ cup sugar has been added, and whipped cream.

Garnish bottom of mold with pineapple ring and tidbits that may, if desired, be tinted green and flavored with mint. Line sides of mold with halved lady fingers. Pour in layer of custard mixture and cover with halved lady fingers. Continue alternating until mold is full, having lady fingers on top. Chill in refrigerator. Unmold on platter and garnish with whipped cream and maraschino cherries, if desired. Strips of sponge or angel food cake may be used instead of lady fingers.

Luncheon offers a chance to introduce to your women friends some of the daintier, creamier and more subtly-flavored foods.

Mushroom souffle, fish bisque, frozen cheese and fruit molds usually have feminine appeal. Men prefer plainer dishes.

The fluffier delicacies are adaptable to late summer, when the luncheon menu centers about one main dish often made up in advance.

Corn Relish Tomatoes, stuffed are a substitute for meat that is tasty and will not dent the budget. Remove centers from eight large tomatoes. Stuff with 2 cups corn mixed into 2/3 cup cubed fresh bread, ½ cup sharp cheese, 2 beaten eggs and 1 tablespoon each of chopped onions, parsley and olives or pickles. Season with salt, paprika and 5 tablespoons melted butter. Bake about 30 minutes in moderate oven and serve in baking dishes.

Bake some blueberry muffins, caramel rolls or spiced luncheon ring along with the tomatoes. Include in your menu a simple fruit salad, hot or cold coffee or tea, and a light dessert.

Let your mechanical refrigerator or ice cream freezer cook this Fruit Cheese Medley as a unique main course for luncheon. Mix 2 cups assorted fruits, 2-3 cup cottage cheese, ½ cup shredded toasted almonds, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 cup whipped cream and 2-3 cup salad dressing. Freeze until firm. Serve on crisp lettuce and garnish with spiced pear. Pass more dressing. Hot rolls, popovers or tiny corn muffins, hot coffee and mint candies tie up with this salad.

Fish Salad makes an especially refreshing warm weather treat. Mix together 1½ cups fish (salmon, tunt, crab, shrimp), 2 hard-cooked eggs, ½ cups diced celery, 2 tablespoons each of chopped olives, pickles and pimentos. Season with salt, paprika and a little lemon juice and moisten with salad dressing. Chill for several hours. Serve on thick tomato slices. Center each portion with chopped parsley and more dressing. Crisp wafers or tiny hot biscuits with currant jam or nut bread and butter sandwiches, hot coffee and a melon, fresh fruit or plain frozen dessert round out this menu.

RECIPE REQUESTS ANSWERED HERE

Soft Custard

Excellent with many stewed or fresh fruits is this creamy custard. It also is an acceptable disguise for second-day sponke cake.

Two eggs, one-fourth cup sugar, one-fourth teaspoon salt, two cups milk, scalded, one-half teaspoon flavoring, (vanilla or lemon extract.)

Combine slightly beaten eggs, sugar and salt in top of double boiler, Add hot milk slowly and stir until sugar is dissolved. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly. When the custard coats a metal spoon remove at once from hot water and place pan in cold water to cool quickly. Add flavoring. This yields about two and one-half cups sauce.

Note: Four egg yolks may replace the two whole eggs in this recipe. This gives a more golden custard. Custard curdles when it is cooked too long, or at too high heat. If it has curdled, beat well with the egg beater after removing from heat.

Airliners Furnish Tips in Tasty Meal Planning

Dear Friends in Marion:

"What did you have to eat?"

That question might be called an ever-blooming perennial. Certainly it has been put to travelers from ancient times down to the present day of Trans-Atlantic high speed hops.

The question of food and travel is even more absorbing now that passengers fly through the air with the greatest of ease. Not so long ago, plane travelers expected a "basket lunch," or at best a cold buffet, but now they work their way systematically through a deluxe menu — complete from hearts of celery to after-dinner mints, and find it good to the last crunch.

Homemakers whose ingenuity is taxed by the day-in-and-day out problem of what to cook for dinner and how to serve it, may find diversion and inspiration in studying the resourcefulness of men responsible for catering in the clouds. The problem of serving hot, palatable, appetizing food aloft was not the only one confronting the planners of air menus. Limited weight and space were equally important. Fancy weighing the noodles in tonight's consomme! Yet noodles can't go flying down to Bermuda without checking in their poundage first.

Catering methods on trans-oceanic airplanes differ in many respects from methods used by all other forms of transportation—even to differing from those in use on domestic airlines. Domestic airlines, owing to their frequent stops, are able in most cases to load freshly-prepared food a short time before it is to be served, but on the Trans-Atlantic Clippers it is necessary to load four meals, most of which will be served hours later.

Normally, a trans-Atlantic Clipper departing from the United States at noon would have on board four meals. Luncheon, which would be served soon after taking off, usually is carried hot in thermos bottles. The steam table, with which each trans-Atlantic Clipper is equipped, is not heated sufficiently until the plane has been in flight at least an hour, so that hot food to be served shortly after taking off must be carried on board in thermoses.

In order to provide hot meals at long distances from the base, special methods have been devised by Chief Steward William K. McKittrick of Pan American Airways, through a long series of experiments. Some canned food is used, but on the whole it is not favored. Instead, food is precooked in the kitchens ashore, then cooled and kept in the refrigerator. Sometimes it actually is frozen through the medium of dry ice. To prepare the meal, the steward will thaw and then heat the food in the steam table of the galley. Savory, distinctive sauces frequently are prepared in flight, and air travelers testify to their excellence.

Coffee Made in Clouds

Coffee, that crowning touch to the perfect meal, is prepared on board. The water is heated in a special boiler and the coffee is brewed by the drip method in a coffee maker designed especially for trans-Atlantic aircraft.

Weight and space are at a premium on board trans-oceanic flying boats, as already mentioned. Each ship carries in Stewards' equipment and supplies approximately 350 pounds for the care and comfort of passengers.

Stewards are quick to learn the favorite foods of travelers. The vote on the "Bermuda Clipper" is divided between a broiled double lamp chop, or a half broiled chicken, although boneless stuffed baby chicken meets a receptive audience. Filet Mignon appears on many of the "Yankee Clipper" dinners. Entrees also enjoyed by Clipper passengers from New York to Lisbon are fricassee of chicken, breast of chicken Virginia, escallope of veal, breast of duckling Bigarrade, breast of guinea hen with wild rice, sirloin steaks, roast turkey and roast beef.

Popular appetizers are smoked salmon and sturgeon, assorted hors d'oeuvres, melon, grapefruit, fruit cocktails and antipasto. Soup leaders are green turtle, gumbo Creole, chicken noodle, Scotch broth and cream of mushroom. Mixed green salad is "tops," seconded by alligator pear and endive.

Men like their pie a la mode in the clouds, and strawberry shortcake, while feminine flyers take to caramel custard, ice-creams and dainty cookies.

The average homemaker who prepares a meal for her family and chosen guests is fairly sure of their tastes, whereas stewards with the Pan American Airways must design meals that will satisfy and appeal to an international clientele.

Here is the menu for a typical dinner, which requires approximately two hours to prepare and about one and one-half hours to serve:

ON BOARD "YANKEE CLIPPER"

Celery; olives; assorted Hors d'oeuvres; Madrilene in cup; grilled tenderloin steak—Bearnaise sauce; mixed green beans; macaire potatoes, endive salad; biscuit Tortoni; petit fours; fresh fruit; assorted cheese; demi tasse.

The hors d'oeuvres course included stuffed egg, anchovies, smoked salmon, pate de fois gras and artichokes a la Grecque. Both hot and cold Madrilene were ready. Homemakers may like to identify the Bearnaise Sauce, as a smooth Hollandaise, enlivened with strong taragon flavor, cheered with chopped taragon and parsley as garniture.

Getting back to that "what did you have to eat" question, the Pan-American Airways is simplifying the response of air-minded travelers by furnishing convenient printed postcards carrying the tempting menu news.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

A Feeling of Dejection Hits Madge, and Her Thoughts Delve Into the Past and the Episode of Dicky, "Babs."

I THINK Dicky and Harry were as surprised as I at my father's caustic comment upon Philip Veritzen and his proposed visit, and I wondered if their minds were as acutely speculative as mine over the reasons which were prompting the theatrical magnate to a farmhouse sojourn. But no one of us made any comment, and the next instant my father had switched the subject to something which interested me far more than anything concerning Philip Veritzen could possibly do

I already had turned to go, try-to ease myself out of the room with celerity and dispatch, when he put a terse question to my nusoand

'How long will it be Richard, before the barring of the windows is completed?" he asked

"About two hours," my husband answered ushering me out of the room as he spoke I heard nothing more, but that was enough to steel me in a resolution I already had taken As I hurried downstairs again, I charged myself with the task of seeking Dicky out as soon as he was free of his task and seeing to it that he granted Edith Fairfax's request to talk to him

And then, as suddenly as if some evil spirit within me had leaped to throttle any generous impulse, I found myself murmuring tensely, "No! No! No!

Looking Back

The next instant I looked around panic-stricken that some one might have overheard my melodramatic plaint. But long and rigid training have schooled me to almost inaudible speech when uttering anything which other people ought not to hear and I concluded that no one could have heard me — even if there had been any one to hear But the corridor was deserted and with a feeling of vacancy between my throat and my diaphram I walked to the hall window recess looking out upon the garden, and sank down in it knowing that I must pull myself together before I saw any other human being

It was not jealousy of the grief-shadowed and pain - wracked wraith which now answered to the name of Edith Fairfax that was swaying me I acquitted myself of that meanness even as I acknowledged that poignant memories of a time when I was jealous of the girl who had tried so hard to win Dicky's love from me were partly responsible for the queer feeling of utter disgust with life, and of the futility of going on with it that was sweeping over me

But not wholly! I probed relentlessly through the layers of camouflage which covered my secret thoughts and away down at the bottom of my heart found the secret thing like a coiled serpent which was constricting every generous impulse

It was the thought of "Babs."

An inexpressible Little shudder went over me as that name rose almost to my lps, although for all the world would I have given it utterance

My Mysterious "Babs"

Never had I set eyes on the girl whose name had been so inextricably entwined in the horrible mesh of gangster-instigated blackmail and murder which had so nearly cost Dicky his life But I had seen her sister, the hard-faced, raucous-voiced woman, who temporarily had taken Edith Fairfax's place on the art magazine which Dicky and Edith owned in a partnership that Dicky had threatened to sever more than once And from Dicky's own lips I had heard that "Babs," young, attractive, and in my husband's perennially naive judgment—me still is my incorrigible 'Peter Pan'—innocent and ingenuous, was the weapon upon which the gangsters had counted in their blackmail plot, counted so surely that they were astonished and enraged when Dicky had refused to deliver my father into their hands as their price for their silence to me

Dicky had tried manfuly to tell me the whole sordid story after my father's organization had rescued him from the gangsters, and captured his pseudo office manager and her gangster associates But in a romantic burst of generosity I had refused to listen to him. Had I been right in making that gesture? I now wonder miserably

DRAFT DELAY RALLIES FOES

60-Day Postponement Is Proposed To Give Voluntary Enlistment a Chance.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4—House foes of the pending conscription bill rallied today behind a proposal for a 60-day postponement of the draft to permit a further trial of the voluntary enlistment system.

As this drive started, many conceded that it was a forlorn hope in view of the fact that the senate rejected the same suggestion by a vote of 43 to 41.

Rep. Fish (R-N.Y.), however, serving notice he would offer the amendment, expressed belief that its chances had been improved measurably by President Roosevelt's destroyer-defense base deal with Great Britain.

Even proponents of the Burke-Wadsworth conscription measure agreed that the destroyer transfer, coming in the face of strong congressional opposition, had cost the bill votes but said the defections would not be numerous enough to jeopardize passage.

The house will not get around to voting on any amendments until tomorrow but interest continued to center chiefly on the government peacetime power to commandeer industrial plants if their owners balk at taking defense contracts.

Sentiment seemed generally against the Overton - Russell amendment adopted by the senate which would empower the army or navy to condemn and acquire ownership of such plants.

The senate would limit conscription to men from the ages of 21 through 30, whereas the house would make the age bracket from 21 through 44.

THOMAS PRESENTS SOCIALIST PETITION

Candidate in Columbus To Seek Place on Ballot.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 4—The Socialist party prepared petitions for Secretary of State George N. Neffner today in an effort to qualify its candidates for a place on the Nov. 5 ballot.

Norman Thomas, the party's presidential candidate, was scheduled to submit the petitions to Neffner personally.

Meanwhile a possibility existed that the Communist party, which recently filed petitions, may be denied a ballot position because of disqualification of petition signatures. Many of the signers have declared the petitions were misrepresented to them.

Gov. Bricker said he might order a grand jury inquiry if widespread fraud became apparent during examination of the petitions.

In Youngstown common pleas court issued an injunction restraining the Mahoning county board of elections from verifying names on Communist petitions.

Attorney Nathan Kaufman, filing a taxpayer's suit, contends Communists have no legal standing as a political party and that members have no legal right to use the voting franchise in Ohio. If the injunction is made permanent it would prevent the election board from forwarding Mahoning county petitions to Neffner.

details on delivery of the destroyers from Stephen Early, presidential secretary. Early replied that "Hitler can find that out for himself."

The congressional conference was followed by assertions of Speaker Bankhead and Majority Leader Barkley of the senate that no new base acquisitions were in the offing. As to developments of the Carribean and Atlantic sites obtained from the British, those spokesmen indicated that Mr. Roosevelt possibly would start the work with money from the $200,000,000 defense fund placed at his disposal by congress earlier this year.

In the house discussion, Rep. Johnson (D-Tex) said he wished to call attention of the Republicans to the fact that "their chosen leader," Wendell L. Willkie, said the trade "was all right and would be sproved by the American people."

Rep. Bender (R-Ohio) said that Johnson had not stated the Republican presidential nominee's whole position.

Willkie, he added, said he believed in turning over the destroyers but it had been done without act of congress.

"I say," Bender continued, "that this is in direct violation of the law. The President took the law into his own hands."

Mr. Farley's Successor

FRANK C. WALKER'S name has been in and out of the Roosevelt administration so often it is hard to realize that Mr. Walker at last is in the cabinet as postmaster general).

Unavoidably, he will be known as James A. Farley's successor. While he has a chance to make himself known in his own right, he necessarily will be overshadowed at the outset by his predecessor.

A genuinely remarkable thing has happened in Mr. Farley's case. It has been discussed at length since the Democratic national convention, but it can't be mentioned too often.

Starting as a presidential campaign manager in 1932, Mr. Farley succeeded in lifting himself above the level of ordinary politics and became a national symbol of extraordinary politics.

Subject to the same influences which tested many of his contemporaries and found them lacking in political quality, he increased his stature steadily as Mr. Roosevelt's right hand man.

Like many Democrats, he did not believe in the thing Mr. Roosevelt planned to do to continue his leadership of the party and, if possible, his presidency of the United States. He refused to submerge his convictions.

Last Thursday, a special occasion was made in the senate of tributes to Mr. Farley as a man of the deepest integrity. One of his political opponents summed it up: "His party is dropping a masterful pilot, his government is losing a faithful public servant, but his country retains his patriotic devotion, and countless people retain a loyal friend."

Forget the Figures

IF IT be the purpose of ministries of information to destroy faith in figures, their reports on plane losses can't be beaten. Circumstantial evidence clinches a charge of deliberate falsehood against both Great Britain and Germany.

German aviators, claiming to have driven the British out of the air, have failed nevertheless to keep them on the ground, which is the ultimate test of supremacy in aviation. As long as British airmen can go up to fight German bombers and to carry out retaliatory raids over areas in Europe from Denmark to Italy, Germany has not won the air war.

Great Britain, which never hoped to be able to drive Germany out of the air, does claim to have made German aviation activity too expensive to be feasible. Yet, even so it must be noted that British claims of German plane losses would not be sufficient, if granted, to offset what is believed to be the German capacity for plane production. German claims of British losses, on the other hand, are high enough, if granted, to indicate a diminishing supply of aerial strength.

However, these speculations are related to figures, and it is plain that neither belligerent intends to reveal anything via arithmetic. The circumstantial evidence is that both sides still are fully capable of doing great damage in the air, and while that evidence continues to accumulate the prospect of the war's settlement will continue to disintegrate.

Renewing the Offer

NEW Yorkers are still trying to swallow the lump which came up in their throats when Paris fell. Their largest industry, manufacture of clothing, was cut off from its source of style at one fell swoop.

The New York Sun thinks that with the aid of unions, the Metropolitan Museum of Art and necessity, which is the mother of invention, the metropolis can think up styles of its own. Apparently, the shortage is more serious than a settler from the great plains can imagine.

Nevertheless, this column herewith renews its offer to furnish the New York clothing industry with any number of telephone pad doodlers who can scratch out more designs than the women of America can assimilate for the next 50 years—and do it while the professional stylists are getting into the mood.

The Last Deadline

SEPT. 15, it now appears, is the latest date to be mentioned in speculation about Germany's deadline for the conquest of Britain. The previously mentioned deadline of Aug. 15 passed without fulfillment of Adolf Hitler's widely publicized ambition.

There would be tremendous psychological advantage for Great Britain in surviving the Sept. 15 date. Germany has made shrewd and telling use of the terror of inevitability, creating the impression that victims marked for humiliation are doomed to defeat on a certain date regardless of what they may decide to do about it. Once it became plain to Germans that Hitler was fallible, a fact he has concealed by his amazing success in doing what he said he was going to do on schedule time after time, the credo of the infallible man would begin to crumble.

KEEPING EVEN

Willkie frightened the Democrats with the strong magic of the double L's in his name, so they put up Wallace for vice president.—Chicago Tribune.

News Behind the News

Speeches Down South Show Roosevelt Still "Champ" at Campaigning.

By PAUL MALLON

ABOARD PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S SPECIAL TRAIN, Sept. 4—Mr. Roosevelt can still give them all cards and spades in campaigning. The technique this time was to answer Willkie without conceding that there is such a man. It was to present the heavy breath of Hitler upon the public neck at just the right temperature, not too hot because that would be disastrous war mongering, not too cold as then such a reason for voting for Roosevelt would be lost.

Paul Mallon

The great humanitarian accomplishments of the first two terms must be heralded, but not by open campaigning because that would disclose personal initiative for a third term. It had to be done indirectly, coyly, graciously. The necessity for a third term must be presented without seeming to. The picture of a man too busy at great projects to waste time in sordid politics, the photo of a leader drafted against his personal inclinations, had to be perpetuated.

It's a Tough Job

That's a tough job, an impossible one you might say, unless you had accompanied Mr. Roosevelt on his first stump foray since his acceptance speech, the opening gun of his campaign in the hesitant south. Ickes tried to do it and messed it up with rhetorical overindulgence. Wallace attempted it but slopped over into painting swastikas on practically everyone except himself and Roosevelt.

Down here the old master showed them how it should be done. He demonstrated conclusively that what the Republicans have deluded themselves into believing was only a magic radio voice, is unquestionably sharpest political wit of the age. This is the picture:

The Chickamauga dam which was finished last March and could have been dedicated any time since then, or not dedicated at all, because few dam openings have been patted by presidential hand, was selected for the opening of the President's campaign ...It was chosen because it afforded the desired contrast with Willkie, in the heart of the district where he represented private power, a community which has gotten more out of the new deal than any other...Never a word about Willkie was there in the speech, only subtle contrasting pledges for cheap electricity, sorrow that "some people" misunderstood the great purposes of TVA, personal recollections showing Roosevelt had always been against private power, how "practical" the President has been instead of wasteful, (mentioning his Dutch and Scotch ancestors), how unlike a dictator he had been in letting state and local governments, farmers, laborers, "cooperate" in building the dam... Not a word about reelection or third term, only: "We propose not only to retain these dams (Willkie said this, too) but to improve and extend them,"... "The progress that we propose to continue to make."..."We must have continuance of your labor."

How better could you say, "reelect me."

And at the Park

Then in the Great Smoky national park which has been ready for dedicating for a full year (it was finished in June, 1939) Mr. Roosevelt chose the occasion to out-pioneer the Willkie acceptance speech, again without conceding there is such a person. Our ancestors were paraded in this speech, keeping their rifles near their axes to save themselves from the Indian scalping knives, arrows and tomahawks which have been replaced my friends, today by "the airplane, tank and machine gun."...No Hitler attack "this fall" appeared in this one, but "the greatest attack that has ever been launched against freedom of the individual is nearer the Americas than ever before." ...Nothing about re-election, but "we need not swap the gain of better living for the gain of better defense. I propose to retain the one and gain the other."... The President even borrowed without credit, the Willkie acceptance line (Willkie borrowed it from Churchill with credit) that all this defense is going to "require sacrifices from us all."... Nothing about anyone else standing for Fascism, but plenty about how free Mr. Roosevelt has kept our liberty with the implied question of who could do it better....

Thus does Mr. Roosevelt's reelection, from his own words, become imperative — although you must admit he did not exactly say so.

Keeps Face Straight

This, then, is to be the Roosevelt type of campaign for the third try, as delicate a job as a statesman ever set his mind to, and clearly now one behind the capacity of his subordinates to attempt.

Only he can say with a face that is straight, except for a minor twinkle in the eye, "I am too busy for politics."

This is to be the classic countersign of the campaign.

If They Ever Debated —

From United States News.

Something like this was bound to happen—a burlesque on the debate which Mr. Roosevelt has flatly declined to help Mr. Willkie stage. Only requirement was that when it happened it should be worth the effort; this skit, by the United States News' "own professor of forensic ferocity," meets that requirement.

JUDGE: Now I want youse boys to come out fighting and fight clean. No butting, no gouging, none of this Ickes-Bridges stuff. Remember it's for the championship, and you don't want to discredit the manly art of politics. Now go to it.

FDR: My friends—

WW: Who wrote this speech for you?

FDR: Who's putting up the money for your campaign?

JUDGE: Break!

FDR: My friends—

WW: Do you think you are talking to the Democratic convention? I got a few friends here, too.

FDR:—I should really be in Washington at this moment—

WW: Packing your trunks.

FDR:—but it has been deemed desirable that we discuss the issues of this campaign face to face. Now, what are these issues?

WW: Ho, ho! Page Charlie Michelson and Claude Pepper. I'll tell you what the issues are. There is only one, and that is the New Deal.

FDR: Okay, the New Deal. Now, what have you against it? You made a profit of $2,000,000 on your transaction with TVA. You own a few farms in Indiana all equipped with rural electrification and WPA chalets. You say you are for the AAA, TVA, REA, NLRA, SSA, and WPA. I think the A's have it. Just what laws would you repeal?

WW: I believe in a government by laws and not by men. I wouldn't repeal any laws, but I would repeal a lot of men. I'd repeal Ickes and Corcoran and—

FDR: And Weir and Girdler and Pew, I presume?

WW: Foul! He fouled me. I didn't appoint those birds to anything.

FDR: You won't get the chance, either. No, they appointed you!

JUDGE: Keep it clean, boys. Stick to the issues.

WW:I maintain that my opponent rashly imperiled this country by calling that dirty bum, Hitler, and his nasty little stooge, Mussolini, bad names.

FDR: Which goes to prove that my opponent is a lowdown appeaser. He shouldn't be on this forum, he ought to be doing a strip-appease act on the kerosene circuit—

WW: What!

FDR: Kilowatt! Ha, got you that time.

WW: Never touched me. What's wrong with the power business? You put the United States government into it.

FDR: It isn't the business that is bad, but the people that are in it.

WW: That's what I say about the Democratic party. Got you that time.

FDR: Nope, missed me. I was talking about the private management of a public property for personal profit.

WW: Sure! Mayor Hague! Mayor Kelly! Ed Crump!

JUDGE: I warned youse to keep it clean, now.

FDR: We sent Tom Pendergast to prison, didn't we?

WW: And let him out in plenty of time for the election.

JUDGE: I'm warning youse for the last time. Keep to the issues. What about national defenses, now?

FDR: That's one word, WW, remember. Defenses, not de fences. Especially not political fences.

WW: I didn't know you could tell them apart, because it seems to me, for a candidate who says he can't spare the time for campaigning, that every time you inspect defenses you are building up 'de fences.'

JUDGE: De next bird to make a bum pun loses on a foul.

FDR: On the topic of national defense, look at our fleet. It—

WW: Sure, it is a tribute to the national youth movement. They teach the kids now to make paper boats in every kindergarten, so now they've got the administration doing it.

FDR: Is that so? Where were you when the Republican administrations were scrapping our ships?

WW: In the Democratic party, where I stayed until this administration started scrapping American industry.

JUDGE: I'm telling youse for—

FDR: When I came into office the country was being run by bootleggers, and—

WW: And now it is being run by bootlickers.

FDR:—no businessman was safe from the monopolist, the racketeer, and the extortionist—

WW: Now he isn't safe from NLRB, the federal investigator, tax collector and—

FDR: Will you stop interrupting me?

WW: I will not, because I was nominated to interrupt you from having 12 years in the White House.

FDR: You say nomination? I call it a double kidnaping.

WW: You're good at calling. You dealt the New Deal and now you're calling, hey? Well, according to the straw votes, I've got a full house. Can you beat 370 electoral votes?

FDR: Straw votes! Ha, ha! ha!

WW: Paper warships! Paper planes! Nyah, nyah!

FDR: Better than a lot of business paper I've seen. Insull's for instance.

WW: If you are trying to be Insull-ing, you are not—

JUDGE: No low punsing, now! Ha, that was pretty good. Puns—punch; get it?

FDR: That is where I came in. I'm going home.

WW: Back to Hyde Park—only you'll be spelling that with an I and not with a Y next year.

FDR: Where will you be, hey? Back being just a hired man, but not on any farm. Watering the stock, maybe, but not milking it. Milking the public—

WW: Why, you—

FDR: Wanna make something out of it?

WW: Yeah, sense, but I can't.

JUDGE: Time's up, boys.

WW: His is, or within five months, anyhow.

FDR: Why, you—

JUDGE: Back to your corners, boys. I'll mail you my decision November fift', so quit scrappin'. You're off the air, anyhow.

Air War Not Hot Yet

Terrible Thermite Bombs Still To Come—Maybe.

By MORGAN M. BEATTY
AP Feature Service Writer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4—Read the statements of the Reich high command and the British air ministry with the help of a man who knows his military planes and his bombs and you reach the astonishing conclusion that the air war we're reading about every day is not even well started yet.

It is true, of course, that many lives have been lost, much property damaged. It would be hard to explain to a man who has seen his neighbor die, or to a flier who has spun out of the sky, that the air war is not on.

Morgan Beatty

But, if the experts have it right, air fighting up to now is a warm-up for the war to come, and an effort on both sides to crack morale on the other. In the warm-up, each side learns the other's long suits, his short-comings. By constantly driving civilians already fed up with war to air-raid shelters, they're inflicting a sort of third degree, intended to crack nerves, make people ask for rest, even if their country has to lose a war.

Both Mention It

The experts will tell you that air war—all-out air war—will begin with an eight-letter word spelled "T-H-E-R-M-I-T-E!" We've already had fleeting glimpses of the word in the communiques from Berlin and London.

Thermite is a simple mixture of powdered aluminum and powdered iron oxide, all bound up with magnesium wire. Attached is a fuse to set off the magnesium, like a battery sets off a photographer's flash bulb.

When a big package of thermite is dropped, the fuse, detonates, sets off the magnesium, and the thermite, thus primed, heats up. Within a few minutes, it is a white hot mass of molten metal capable of melting steel. It gets hotter than 3,000 degrees Fahrenheit, which is hotter than any ladle of molten steel in a blast furnace. Therefore, it will set fire to anything inflammable. It is a small river of fire itself.

Just a Package of Heat

All military men say thermite bombs, or incendiary bombs. But technically, the package is no bomb at all. Merely a heater-upper.

It's no secret weapon, either. The military men of all nations know the formula, use it in practice bombing attacks. Secret tests by the American air servite, for instance, have convinced authorities that thermite bombing is capable of destroying any big city and a single big raid might be enough. Maybe two hundred planes, or less.

A city can be levelled by fire,

It was Thursday, Sept. 4, 1930.

One thousand persons were dead and 29,000 homeless in Santo Domingo as a result of a Caribbean hurricane.

Marion police recovered stolen property, including automobiles, valued at $9,770 during August, Sgt. L. E. Reardon informed Safety Director T. E. Sonnanstine in the department's monthly report.

Miss Emily Burgin, whose marriage to Harold Thomas was to take place Sunday at St. Paul's Episcopal church, was complimented with a dinner and bridge given at Ringer's Inn by Miss Burgin's associate women employees at the Erie railroad offices.

Son were born to Mr. and Mrs. Walter Willauer of Wood street and Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Thaxton of Waterloo street and a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Ray Yost of Evans road. Mrs. Kenneth Burke of North State street received word that a son had been born to her son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Ferrara of New York City.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Saturday, Sept. 4, 1920.

Daughters were born to Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Ingmier of Nye street and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph L. Smith of North Main street.

Mrs. Harriet Osborn, 76, of Caledonia, died suddenly at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Roy Click in Cleveland.

H. R. Stoll won the W. D. Clark tennis trophy by defeating John Hane.

Guests at the Harding front porch during the day included members of the Great Lakes Naval Training station band. Mr. Harding in a talk to the group said that as he saw it "he must not yield to the temptation which often comes to men who are candidates to make false appeals and appeals which, though they might be successful at the moment, do not serve truth or do not meet the requirements of national dignity." He said that "he must concentrate attention on construction and not upon abuse." He began his talk with reference to the time when he played in a band and said he had never had a better time than when he was a member of that organization. The band, in charge of Commander W. H. O'Brien, arrived in Marion from Chicago in the early morning and were entertained at the Marion club before marching to the Harding home where they gave a concert of patriotic music ... On the preceding day Senator Seldon P. Spencer of Missouri was a guest at the Harding home and was accompanied by A. L. Reeves of Kansas City, a former candidate, Col. E. P. Allen, managing editor of the Kansas City Journal and E. Mont Riley, also of Kansas City. Senator Spencer said, "There is no doubt we will sweep Missouri by a large majority. The truth is that our people are determinedly opposed to the Wilson-Cox League of Nations." Another visitor was Jake L. Hamon, Republican national committeeman from Oklahoma, who brought prediction that his state would join in the Republican victory trend. He said there would also be great Republican gain in Texas. Also visitors at the home were E. A. Van Valkenburg publisher of the Philadelphia North American, and Tyler Page, clerk of the U. S. house of representatives. Mr. Page came fresh from a trip through New England and the east. He said he had talked with many people, more Democrats than Republican, and that the Harding sentiment was "amazingly encouraging." "Admiration for Harding is fast growing into genuine affection," he said.

Ethel Tells About Some Little Accidents That Could Happen to Anybody at the Movies.

By DAMON RUNYON

Mr. Joe Turp Writes From Brooklyn:

DEAR SIR: The other night my wife Ethel and I went to the movies and the only seats we could find were in the middle of a row so we had to push past a lot of other people to get them and when we got back home Ethel ses Joe I want to tell you something.

I ses tell away baby. She ses well when we have to push past other people in the movies to get to our seats I wish you would not keep saying to them, excuse me, excuse me. I ses why Ethel I only say that to apologize to them for disturbing them. I ses you take tonight for instance. I ses we got in right in the middle of that picture and those people were busy watching it so I ses excuse me to show them I was sorry we had to bother them.

Damon Runyon

Ethel ses yes but you ses excuse me, excuse me, excuse me a million times. What was the use of wasting so many excusa mes on them? I ses Ethel you know very well it was not a million times. I ses it was only being polite and Ethel ses Joe nobody appreciates politeness when you push past them in the movies like that. They just think you must be a country Jake for saying excuse me.

I SES now wait a minute Ethel. I ses I have just thought of something. I ses I have often noticed that any time we have to push past people to get out seats a lot of them keep looking at us even after we sit down. I ses tonight two or three of those people we had to push past kept looking at us every once in a while long after we sat down. Ethel ses do you mean those two fat ladies in the seats on the aisle, or the skinny one with the funny hat?

I ses I do not remember what they looked like but I noticed several of those people turning their heads every once in a while to look at us long after we sat down. I ses Ethel now you tell me the truth. I ses did you do something to those people or not? Ethel ses why no Joe I did not do anything to them. I just climbed over them. I ses yes but did anything happen to them when you was climbing? She ses well only by accident.

I ses what do you mean by accident? Ethel ses O those fat ladies got their toes stepped on and the skinny one got her funny hat knocked off but she looked much better without it Joe. The way you knock a hat off Joe is to turn all of a sudden when you are climbing over somebody and let your arm out by accident. Did those people look mad when they were looking at us after we sat down Joe?

I SES yes they did and I was wondering why. I ses there was some fellows in the row ahead of us looking back at us after we sat down and they looked mad too. I ses don't tell me they had some kind of accidents Ethel? She ses O it was just their hair. I ses what do you mean their hair- Ethel ses why you know how some fellows drop their heads back on their seats while they are looking at the picture If somebody who is climbing over people in the row behind them has a pocketbook in her hands she can scrape it across their heads and muss up their hair by accident.

I ses Ethel I am ashamed of you. I ses I thought you were always a lady and she ses well I am Joe except in the movies when nobody else is a lady. Those fat ladies were not ladies Joe. They would not pull in their old fat legs an inch to let me past and that skinny one with the funny hat gave me the meanest look you ever saw in your life and she would not pull in her skinny old legs either. She acted like we had no right coming in there and I was not sorry when she got her hat knocked off by accident.

I SES Ethel now that I know what has been coming off I am never going to take you to the movies again. I ses it's a wonder we have not got in a lot of trouble over you acting that way and Ethel ses Joe the only time we almost got in trouble was the time you stood up and turned up your seat to let some people get past us and you shut off the view of the people behind you so they missed some of the picture while you were standing and a fellow hollered sit down bum. Do you remember that Joe?

I ses yes and if I could have found out who that fellow was I would have fixed him and she ses yes but is that any reason for you to keep standing there trying to pick him out until other fellows were hollering sit down bum too? I was terribly mortified that night Joe. I ses Ethel I think I will go to bed and she ses all right Joe.

Yours truly,
JOE TURP.

Anecdotes of Ohio

By GILBERT F. DODDS

Pathos dominated the exodus of the Wyandot Indians from their Upper Sandusky home in July, 1843, after Jacques, the tribal chief, agreed to plans worked out with Col. John Johnston, Indian agent.

Tribal dead, buried in divers parts of the state, were reinterred in the home soil, marked with appropriate headstones.

It was a highly dramatic and pathetic sight when a wagon train of tribal belongings, chiefs on horseback and hundreds of Indians afoot headed for a new home in Kansas. Hardened braves, the young and the shrinking squaws gazed back at their fathers' homes through tear-dimmed eyes.

Grass Point, Hardin county, was reached the first night. On the second leg, the tribe bivouacked at Bellefontaine, the fourth night at Springfield, and finally on the seventh day the last of the Ohio tribesmen sailed down the Ohio river from Cincinnati.

"Bumbershoot" Business Drops

By The Associated Press

BALTIMORE—The unbrella business is on the wane. Modern living is responsible, says a Baltimore manufacturer.

Baltimore once was a major umbrella-making town, but demand has fallen off now.

Even Neville Chamberlain and appeasement didn't help.

In former days, the manufacturer said, umbrellas and parasols were not only fashionable, but necessities because of poor transportation. Telephones, automobiles, and better transportation changed all that. And women aren't afraid of sun tan these days.

On only one point was there full agreement: "Complete separation of church and state at this time is neither possible nor desirable."

Tigers Face Tribe In Crucial Series

Detroit in Last Ditch Scrap To Stay in Pennant Race.

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Detroit Tigers backed into the last ditch today in their battle for another American league pennant.

They came to grips with the front-running Cleveland Indians in the first of nine games the two clubs have left with each other and the prospect for Detroit was disheartening.

McCosky Is Hurt

The Tigers lost their fourth straight game yesterday as well as the services of their star centerfielder, Barney McCosky, in a 10-2 debacle against the Chicago White Sox. McCosky hurt his side diving for a fly ball and may be out a week.

With Bob Feller in the box for the Indians, there was a chance the Tigers might lose hope.

They already have shown a lot more than some of the experts, so-called, expected. But the chips are really down in the junior circuit for the next 10 days.

The onrushing Yankees expect to fatten themselves at the expense of their favorite stooges, the Washington Senators.

Reds Edge Cards

The National league standard-bearer no longer is in doubt. Cincinnati's hitless wonders have been renominated virtually without opposition. The Reds nosed out the St. Louis Cardinals 4-3 yesterday.

Detroit never had a chance against the White Sox, giving up seven runs in the first inning. Fred Hutchinson loaded the bases right at the start with three walks and all of the runners scored on two singles and an error. Jack Knott pitched shutout ball until the ninth.

This was Chicago's 13th triumph, in 20 games over the Tigers, the last eight coming in a row. In contrast Chicago has been able to win only four out of 19 from the Indians.

No other games were scheduled yesterday.

Injured Tiger

The Detroit Tigers have temporarily lost the services of Barney McCoskey, above, the star centerfielder who was injured in yesterday's game with the Chicago White Sox.

EAGLES COP TWO WINS OVER HOLIDAY WEEK-END

The Marion Eagles baseball team chalked up victories No. 14 and 15 over the double holiday Sunday the Eagles edged Sycamore, 2-1, at the latter's park and Monday they nosed out Bucyrus, 4-3, at Lincoln park.

Sunday the locals cracked out seven timely hits while their ace flinger, Fetter, was pitching eight-hit ball. Gruber led the Marion attack with two singles in four trips to the plate. The Eagles won a free hitting contest Monday from the Bucyrus club. The Marionites pounded Lalpply for 14 hits but were unable to bunch them effectively. With the score tied going into the ninth, Fetter relieved Darnell on the mound and held the visitors scoreless while his own mates brought home the winning marker in their half of the ninth when Gruber singled and Marshall tripled to left.

The Eagles will entertain Bobb's Chevrolet team of Columbus Sunday at Lincoln park as part of a benefit program for a new fence at the park diamond.

Epworth Blanks Oakland, 3-0, To Win Third Straight No. 1 League Pennant

Epworth captured the Sunday School No. 1 league pennant for the third consecutive year by blanking Oakland, 3-0, last night in a playoff at Lincoln park. The playoff was necessitated when the two teams tied for the top spot at the end of the regulation season with 12 wins and three losses.

It was Maurice "Maury" Whitcum who played a big part in Epworth's victory. The husky pitching star had his fireball under control as he limited the Oakland team to three scattered hits while fanning 11. He also accounted for two of his team's runs as he hit safely twice and scored each time.

Get Nine Hits

Manager John Clark's champions hammered Pitcher Harry Moak for nine hits. The ace righthander for Oakland set 10 of the opposition down on strikes and also contributed one of his team's three safeties.

The Epworth crew started things off in the second when Whitcum singled to left and went to second when Harold Millisor, right fielder, followed suit. Centerfielder Hedge was safe at first on an error and Millisor took second bringing Charles "Chuck" Reid to the plate. The hard hitting backstop lined a clean double to center, scoring Whitcum and Millisor. Moak bore down for the rest of the inning and fanned the next two batters.

The third and final run scored by the winners came in the fifth, Whitcum the first man up singled to left. Millisor flied to deep right bringing Hedge up. The latter slapped out his only hit of the game, a double to right that sent Whitcum romping home.

Lead Hitting Attack

Whitcum and Charles Reid paced the Epworth hitting attack with two blows apiece. Creasap, Moak and D. Buckley each hit one for the losers

Several hundred fans were on hand for last night's contest, the proceeds of which went to the fund for purchase and erection of a fence at the Lincoln park diamond.

Score by innings, batteries and final league standings follow:

Oakland	000 000 0—0	3 3
Epworth	020 010 *—3	9 0

GALION COUNCIL ACTS ON STREET WORK PLAN

Special to The Star

GALION, Sept. 4—Action was taken by city council last night, to cooperate with the state highway department in resurfacing Harding Way E. from the Big Four railroad tracks to the Erie railroad crossing. The city will pay $4,000 of the total cost of $11,500.

Property owners on Wilson avenue who had previously petitioned for the hard surfacing of the street, presented a petition to council stating that they preferred black top surface. A motion was made by council following the presentation of this petition, that if 50 per cent of the front footage owners on the street favored this hard surfacing, these plans would be carried out.

A. C. Stover, manager of a Kroger store on Harding Way East, represented several Galion merchants, when he asked that council pass an ordinance to protect housewives and merchants from peddlars and hucksters canvassing the town. This matter was referred to the rules and ordinances committee.

FIREMAN JOE BEGGS RESCUES REDS FROM GAS HOUSE GANG 4-3

Yankee Castoff Wins Ninth as Relief Hurler; Walters To Face Pirates Today.

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Sept. 4 — Fireman Joe Beggs, who has proven the answer to the Cincinnati Reds' prayers for a relief hurler, probably will enjoy a rest today.

Bucky Walters was called to face Pittsburgh in a night tilt and the ace Cincinnati hurler, who has won 18 games, usually finishes. On the mound opposing him will be Max Butcher.

Fireman Joe, who said he was about to give up professional baseball and go to teaching school when the New York Yankees traded him to the Reds for Lee Grissom last spring, was given credit for a 4-3 Cincinnati triumph over the St. Louis Cardinals yesterday.

It was Beggs' ninth victory—all in relief roles. The deadpan righthander went to the rescue of rookie Witt Guise in the seventh inning. The bases were loaded and only one man was out, but Beggs promptly made Mickey Owen bank into a double play. Johnny Hutchings had started for the Reds and lasted two rounds.

Jimmy Wilson proved he was not up to the rocking chair age, although he is 42, by taking things into his own hands for the Reds in the eighth. He drove a screaming double past third to bring in the winning runs for the Reds.

The victory gave the Reds another half length, extending their lead to eight full games over the second-place Dodgers in the National league pennant race.

Marion Merchants Beaten in Finals of Softball Meet

Plain City was crowned champion of Prospect's third annual softball tournament Sunday by defeating the Marion Merchants, 4-2, at Prospect.

The new champ became the darkhorse of the tournament by spilling Crestline, two-time winner, in the second round of play last week. In the semi-finals they downed the Marion Eagles, 5-3. The Merchants, runner-ups to Crestline both years, edged the Young Democrats, 3-2, in their semi-final game, also Sunday.

The title tilt was a pitchers' battle between Plain City's Howard, and the Merchants star twirler, Bill Everly. The former set the Merchants down with five hits while his mates were touching Everly for seven. The winners were off to a fast start in the initial inning when their left fielder, Humphrey slapped out a four-bagger scoring Howard who had previously reached base on an error.

Plain City scored once in the second and again in the fourth. The Merchants tallied once in the second on an error and singles by Bill Everly and Bob Reid. The Marionites made their last bid in the sixth frame when they chased another lone run across the plate on successive doubles by Roy Everly and Woods.

Scores by innings and batteries follow:

Marion Merchants	010 001 0—2	5 3
Plain City	210 100 x—4	7 2

Know Your Courts, Judge Young Urges in Talk to Service Clubs

Need of More Public Interest in Judiciary Emphasized at Meeting of Rotarians and Lions.

Get better acquainted with your courts of justice, their system of operation and the service they perform for the public.

That is the wish voiced by Judge Hector S. Young of the Marion county court of common pleas over which he presides, and at the same time he invites you to visit the courtroom at any time and listen in on trial proceedings.

This invitation came as a part of a talk given by Judge Young yesterday following the weekly luncheon of the Rotary club at Hotel Harding. The audience also included members of the Marion Lions club, who were guests of the Rotarians. The Lions' weekly meeting falls on Monday and as Monday of this week was a holiday, the arrangement to convene with Rotary was made.

Judge Young's talk covered a history of the American courts, starting with their founding with the English judicial system as a pattern, but he gave most of his attention to an account of the courts in Ohio and particularly the common pleas court in Marion county.

It was this historical review that led up to his comments on the need for more interest in the courts on the part of the public and a clearer conception of the vital role the judicial system has in the lives and welfare of the people.

When the Crowds Come

"During the six years that I have presided in the common pleas court of Marion county, trials of only a few cases have attracted audiences of sizeable proportions and those were murder cases or others in which sex questions were involved," Judge Young said. He reminded his listeners that frequently there are trials of important civil actions fully as interesting as criminal proceedings and that the public might gain a much better idea of a court's functions by sitting through a few of these.

The judge pointed out, however, that the conduct of trials is not the only work performed by a court, but that to the contrary much more time is taken up in the judge's chambers with study of pleadings, preparation of decisions, and settlement negotiations.

Domestic troubles which reach the Marion county court are increasing, resulting in from 120 to 150 court actions each year, the judge said. Consideration of these human problems he termed the "most unsatisfactory" part of the court's work.

"Untangling domestic troubles must be done, however, for we must try to give the children in these homes a break," he said.

Among the Causes

The increase in suits resulting from domestic difficulties Judge Young believes comes primarily from economic stress and hardships of recent years.

"It is hard to get love to endure if there is not enough to eat and not enough clothes for the wife and children. Then there are cases where the young couple find it necessary to move in with father and mother, and that usually is not a very satisfactory arrangement," the judge told his audience.

He revealed also that there are actually instances of where couples have separated and sought divorce in order to qualify for relief orders.

In his review of Ohio and Marion county court history, Judge Young related that in the beginning there were nine counties in the state with three judges doing the work. Marion county's first court record was in 1825 and Judge Holmes was the first local jurist. The original judcial subdivision under the later constitutional provisions drawn up in 1851 consisted of Marion, Wyandot and Crawford counties, but as Wyandot and Crawford over a long period were strongly Democratic politically and thus controlled the district, no common pleas judge came from Marion county until 1884, when Caleb H. Norris was elected.

Start of Present System

The three-county arrangement was effective until after the constitutional convention of 1912, when the present system was adopted, providing a common pleas court in each county.

The common pleas court, Judge Young explained, is a court of general jurisdiction, in which virtually every form of legal action may be brought excepting on claims for less than $100.

He said that one of the needs for effective court functioning is for citizens to be ready and willing to perform jury service and he expressed regret that all do not take that attitude.

"One thing wrong with our courts is that too many people are inclined to take things for granted and 'let George do it'," he said.

Judge Young was introduced to his audience by John K. Bartram, chairman of the Rotary program committee.

A brief talk also was given by James G. Lyte, president of the Lions club.

Guests included Rollin Thompson; Hobart Sockman and W. R. Conaway, Rotarians from Cardington.

MARION AND BUCYRUS MEN ADRIFT ON LAKE

V. F. Haines and Dr. Campbell Have Narrow Escape.

A vacation jaunt that brought its daily limit of fish had its harrowing moments for Verlin F. Haines of 631 Miami street and Dr. J. S. Campbell of Bucyrus. They returned yesterday from a stay at the camp of Dr. W. J. Yeoman of Bucyrus at Red Bay, Ontario, Canada.

Last Wednesday was a day they won't forget soon.

They started fishing in the morning and were about three miles out from land in their outboard motor boat when Mr. Haines shut off the motor, to troll. A heavy fog began to fall and a high wind rose, whipping the boat around several times. When they started back to camp they were enveloped in fog and when they finally got their bearings they found they were eight miles out, in Lake Huron. They turned the boat to ride with the waves and drifted back to another island four and a half miles down from the Yeoman camp. There they got gasoline and headed for their camp, but the fog was so dense that when they arrived they ran the boat ashoal on the beach and damaged it considerably. Other men at the camp came out in rowboats to rescue them from the knee deep water.

Men at the camp said they had lighted bonfires and had stood at the edge of the water shouting trying to attract attention of the lost fishermen, but the wind and the fog defeated them.

JUDGE DAY LAUNCHES INDEPENDENT CAMPAIGN

Avoids Primary To Seek Reelection To Court.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 4—Judge Arthur H. Day of the Ohio supreme court, who stayed out of the Republican primary in May, today formally launched his campaign for reelection by filing a nominating petition bearing an announced 223,751 signatures.

The petition, for which only 24,600 signatures were required, qualifies him for a place on the Nov. 5 ballot.

A candidate for the term beginning Jan. 2, the Clevelander avoided the primary, he said, because he had neither the time nor funds for a campaign.

The Republicans nominated former Atty. Gen. Gilbert Bettman of Cincinnati, who with Judge MacBride, Columbus Democrat, will oppose Day in the November election.

Political observers, discussing Judge Day's primary stay-out, recalled that he joined Republican leaders by indorsing Robert J. Bulkley, Cleveland Democrat, for reelection to the U. S. senate in 1928. This was after Day lost the Republican senatorial nomination to Robert A. Taft.

PLANS PROGRESS FOR FORGET-ME-NOT SALE

D. A. V. Committee for Sept. 14 Event Holds Meeting.

The committee in charge of the annual forget-me-not sale on Sept. 14 of Marion Chapter No. 22, Disabled American Veterans of the World War, met with the chapter adjutant and sale chairman, Deputy Sheriff William H. Willis last night in the veterans' room at the armory.

Team captains reported preliminary arrangements points to one of the most successful sales conducted by the chapter and the auxiliary.

New flowers, made by veterans, and window cards have been ordered. The cards will carry the words of William Ellis Register in explanation of the meaning of the forget-me-not; "Little pale blossom of tint sky blue, why are you worn today? Why is everyone buying you? What do you stand for, pray? I stand for a cross in Flanders field and the Marne and the Wood of Belleau; for the khaki line that would not yield—for the prayers from lips that Death has sealed—I stand for wounds that have not healed, and hospital beds in a row."

The sale will immediately precede Argonne week, commemorating the Meuse-Argonne offensive from which few men escaped without wounds.

Receipts from the sale will go to the local chapter, which will pay for the veteran-made flowers and send a fractional part to the regional rehabilitation service officer. The greatest amount of money will go to relief work in Marion city and county.

Among the major projects of the local chapter are the assisting of families of veterans who have been denied compensation due to various factors in the presentation and prosecution of their claims, and the maintaining of a rehabilitation officer to represent these veterans and present their claims or appeals for a formal hearing.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Koeppen, delegates from the Marion chapter and auxiliary to the twentieth national convention last week at Green Bay, Wis., were at the meeting.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY IN COURT AT MARYSVILLE

Special to The Star

MARYSVILLE, Sept. 4—LaVerne Wilson of Unionville Center entered a plea of not guilty to a charge of breaking and entering when arraigned before Justice Richard C. Thrall here today and a preliminary hearing was set for Sept. 3 at 10 a. m. Bond of $3,000 was not furnished and he was remanded to the county jail.

Wilson is said to have forced his entry into the home of Nora Clevenger where his wife, Kathryn Wilson was staying and threatened his wife with a rifle. The Unionville marshal was summoned and took Wilson to Plain City jail. Sheriff Roosa brought him to the county jail.

Good French combing lengths, fine territory wools, either in original bags or in graded lines, were bringing 86-88 cents, scoured basis.

LIST TRAVELS UNEVEN ROAD

Volume of Dealing Held Low by Uncertainties Ahead for Business.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Sept. 4—Conflicting trends of thought among traders sent uneven price movements through the stock market today.

Gains and losses, mainly of a fractional nature, were fairly well distributed throughout the lift toward the fourth hour, but the volume of dealings was very limited.

Among leaders on the downside were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Montgomery Ward, United Aircraft, Air Reduction, Union Carbide and Chesapeake & Ohio. Included in the advancers were U. S. Rubber, Goodrich, Eastman, Dupont, Westinghouse, Sperry and Loft.

Outlining present British and United States defense orders and their expected effect on the steel industry, the magazine Iron Age reported: "All indicators point to the probability of extreme activity during the remaining four months of this year."

From other barometers of industry, such as railroad operations, came similar statements of high activity, but Wall Street authorities said traders feared the impact of war-level taxes on company earnings and were likely to continue hesitant in their operations at least until congress has specified the extent of such taxes.

In this connection, one authority asserted: "Uncertainties are generally a greater depressant than actual bad news. Earnings of industrial stocks receded nearly 58 per cent in 1917 compared with 1916. The cause of the earnings drop was largely the tax law, but when the tax law became an actuality, stocks actually sold 11 per cent higher in 1917."

POOL BOND ISSUE GETS COUNCIL'S OK

BUCYRUS, Sept. 4—The $25,000 proposed bond issue for construction of a municipal swimming pool, received approval of city council last night when legislation determining to submit the bond issue at the general election Nov. 5, was passed unanimously.

Council also heard the estimated rate for the proposed bond issue which was submitted by Council Auditor C. C. Metzger as 18 cents on the thousand valuation. Council members pointed out however, that the bond issue would not mean a increase in the tax rate due to the fact that the airport bonds would expire this year.

Mayor William F. Whiteamire reported that blue prints for the proposed annex to City hospital had been approved by the state building commission and that S. A. Schieber had been authorized as the contractor to proceed with the construction.

WHEAT HITS BEST LEVEL IN 2 MONTHS

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Sept. 4 — Scoring gains ranging from ¾ to 1⅞ cents at one stage, wheat prices today reached the best levels in one to almost two months.

Buying was attributed partly to milling and elevator interests which were active particularly in September contracts, which led the advance and reached the highest price since August 6. December wheat sold the highest since July 8, while May contracts established a new seasonal peak.

The situation in Rumania and resistance of Britain against German air attacks were called bullish factors by brokers and the fact that loan rates on which much new wheat was being stored were above futures prices accounted for some strength.

Wheat closed unchanged to 1¾ cents higher compared with yesterday's finish, September 75¼-lower to ¼ higher, September ⅜, December 77⅛-¾; corn 1⅜ 62⅜-½, December 57¼-⅜; oats ¼ off to ¼ up.

SUIT AGAINST RADNOR RESIDENT IS SETTLED

Settlement has been made in the $7,500 damage suit of Leonard Daugherty of Marion against William (Billie) Jones of Radnor, according to an entry filed in common pleas court.

The action, brought Dec. 6, 1937, was in connection with a traffic accident on state route 4, four miles south of Marion, April 10, 1937. Mr. Daugherty was represented by Paul D. Smith and the firm of Strelitz & Dowler was counsel for the defendant.

Restaurants and Night Spots Here Using New Centralized Music Plan

Music wired from a central studio is entertaining patrons of several Marion restaurants and night spots, who request their selections by the same two-way communication system over which their numbers are broadcast. The new unit brings to Marion a new twist in entertainment, which although some two years old is quite new in this section of the country.

The outfit installed here by a Columbus company is similar to those which first were introduced on the west coast several years ago. Cleveland, Dayton and Columbus were among the first Ohio cities where installations were made and Marion is the first city of its size in the state to have the "wired music."

Guests at any point connected to the central studio can make a selection from any one of hundreds of records carried in the studio library. They simply walk up to the device, which looks like an ordinary music machine, deposit a coin and name their selection. The voice is carried over leased telephone wires to the studio where the operator handles the request by playing the desired recording from the files.

Only major differences from the usual music machine is the wider range of selections available. At present the studio, located at 146½ South Main street, has more than 750 on hand and later numbers are added as they are released. Another innovation, provided by the machine is that a request can be made at one location for the operator to broadcast a number at any other spot on the circuit.

At present three operators are on duty from noon until 2:30 a. m. handling the calls. They are Miss Margaret Main, Miss Helen Uncapher and Miss Jean Johnson.

because the present war and previous wars have demonstrated that air raids cannot be stopped. There is no defense against big squadrons of airplanes.

The first great raid with thermite, of course, will bring retaliation—with thermite. That's the question mark of the coming air war. Nobody knows what will happen after it starts.

Will the people of either England or Germany rise up, overthrow the government, force a peace at any price to prevent further destruction?

Both Messrs. Hitler and Churchill would like to know the answer to that one. They'd give their right arms for it, for then they'd know whether to start an "all-out" air war.
